RATIFICATION NOW ASSURED

GERMAN NATIONAL ASSEMBLY REPORTED TO BE IN FAVOR OF RATIFYING THE TREATY.

By the Associated Press
COPENHAGEN, July 3.—The German national assembly will deal with the treaty of peace between the Allies and Germany on Saturday of this week. A majority for the ratification of the instrument is assured, according to a Weimar dispatch to the Politiken. Little opposition has been manifested since the treaty was signed last Saturday.

BOLSHEVIKI LOSE CITY TO FOLLOWERS OF DENEKINE

By the Associated Press
LONDON, July 3.—The forces of General Denekine, the anti-Bolshevik leader in the southern part of Russia, have occupied the city of Tzaritzin on the Volga river south of Saratov, according to Russian wireless reports. The city had previously been abandoned by the Bolsheviks.

JAPAN FOR PEACE AND MANKIND

PRIME MINISTER OF JAPAN, TAKASHI HARA, SAYS HIS COUNTRY IS VITALLY INTERESTED IN EAST.

By the Associated Press
TOKIO.—(By mail.)—Japan occupied at the peace conference a special position—she was disinterested in the problems concerned with the Occident but greatly interested in the questions bound up with the Far East.—Takashi Hara, the prime minister, has told the editor of a French magazine published at Tokyo. The premier said: "Japan went to the peace conference with the desire to take an active part in its work and to participate in all questions that might arise. Why? Because Japan is sincerely attached to the cause of right and justice. She has proved it by closely co-operating with the Allies and by subscribing without reserve to the fourteen propositions of President Wilson; she never hesitated to join with the promoters of the League of Nations.

"Like the French, English and American peoples, we wish a permanent peace, better and more open relations between nations, a happier humanity. And we believe we are in a good position to judge from the point of view of justice and right because we have fewer interests under discussion than Europe and the United States. Our attitude is impartial and our delegates at Paris showed the good faith, sincerity and openness of our politics.

"However, violent criticisms have been addressed to us. Japan has been represented as an ambitious, war-loving, aggressive nation. The preceding cabinet suffered the same accusations which were not merited. I can assure you my government is doing its best not to cause discontent; to disregard proceedings which might be thought to bear a reprehensible character. The peace conference has given us an occasion to show you we were not guilty of what had been reproached to us."

WILSON TO LAND AT HOBOKEN TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, July 3.—President Wilson is expected to land at Hoboken, New Jersey, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. After a brief address in New York, the president will go immediately to Washington.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 3.—Missouri ratified the federal woman suffrage amendment today. The senate adopted the resolution passed by the house yesterday.

MEETING OF OFFICIALS TODAY TO DECIDE DISPUTED POINTS IN THE RULES.

By the Associated Press
TOLEDO, Ohio, July 3.—Rules governing the heavy weight championship contest here tomorrow between Jess Willard, now champion, and Jack Dempsey, challenger, in Tex Rickard's $150,000 arena, are to be officially interpreted at a meeting today between Ollie Peckard, referee, Tex Rickard and Major A. J. Drexel Biddle, judges of the contest. The boxers themselves and Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, expressed willingness to box under any rules, but suggested that each be allowed to fight as long as one arm is free, but to break clean at the referee's command.

Rickard said he understood that the straight Marquis of Queensbury rules would apply, the boxers to care for themselves at all times. Kearns said he intended to press the point that the judges of the contest must sit on opposite sides of the ring.

Betting on the bout is surprisingly light, not more than $10,000 being up in actual stakes with the foremost bookmakers.

U. S. Bound to Defend France Against Attacks

By the Associated Press

PARIS, July 3.—The texts of the agreements between France and the United States and France and Great Britain were given out by the Foreign office late last night. The agreement with the United States cites the peace treaty articles prohibiting Germany from fortifying either the right or left bank of the Rhine or assembling forces within thirty miles east of the Rhine provinces. In case these provisions do not assure France protection, the United States is bound to come immediately to her assistance.

It is provided that the treaty be submitted to the council of the League of Nations which shall decide whether to recognize it as an agreement in conformity with the League Covenant, and it also provides that the treaty be submitted to the United States Senate and the French parliament for approval.

R-34 EXPECTED FRIDAY MORNING

GIANT AIRCRAFT NOW IN MID-OCEAN; WILL REACH LONG ISLAND SATURDAY MORNING.

By the Associated Press
LONDON, July 3.—The British Air ministry announced today that it expected the dirigible R-34, now in mid-ocean on its first trans-Atlantic flight, to reach St. Johns, Newfoundland, not later than Friday morning and Hazelhurst Field, Long Island, early Saturday morning. The position of the flying craft was given today as half way to Newfoundland.

The craft started from Scotland early Wednesday morning. If it succeeds in landing on the coast of Newfoundland Friday, it will have made the voyage in two days.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, July 3.—The wireless station here reports having heard signals last night from the giant dirigible R-34, indicating that all was well and that the ship was continuing her westward journey without any apparent trouble. The position of the ship was not reported.

TRIAL OF KAISER AT EARLY DATE

LLOYD GEORGE ANNOUNCES THAT LONDON WILL BE PLACE OF TRIAL OF KAISER IN NET.

By the Associated Press
LONDON, July 3.—Former German Emperor, William II. will be placed on trial soon and the German officers who are guilty of having committed appalling infamies will also be tried. The tribunal to try the former Emperor will sit in London. These statements were made today by Premier Lloyd George in his report on the peace conference.

The terms of the treaty were terrible in some respects, the Premier said, but terrible were the deeds which justified it and still more terrible would have been the consequences if Germany had succeeded. Lloyd George declared, however, that the British delegation had taken a resolute stand against putting predominantly German population under Polish rule.

BALL GAME AND FAT MAN'S RACE FRIDAY

Not often in cities even of Ada's size are sport lovers given such a treat as will be given at the Fair Grounds Race Park tomorrow afternoon.

For the small sum of twenty-five cents you will be allowed to see a fast game of baseball between Ada and Atoka, but that is only a small part of the entertainment for there will be one of the greatest track events, that it has ever been your privilege to witness, a fat man's race between that great athlete, Billy Coffman, whose great record is an open book to every one, and Fred Gallamore who has a world-wide reputation in athletics and of course he is not quite so well known locally as Billy Coffman, but has an enviable record of events won. Of course these gentlemen are in the same boat as our friend Jess Willard in regard to age, but my opinion is athletes are like whiskey (grow better with age) and these fellows are older than they look.—Publicity Manager.

For professional entertainers a portable dressing room, made of fabrics stretched over a folding frame, has been patented.

Richest Indian in War Tires of Fighting and Goes to Coast to Rest

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 3.—Joe Mills, the richest Indian in the service of America in the world war, has had enough of fighting and favors a lasting peace. He saw 18 months service including participation in the memorable engagement at Chateau Thierry, where Mills stopped a German machine gun bullet. He still carries his arm in a sling as the result of the wound.

Mills is in Los Angeles to "rest up to get the memories of the European fighting out of my mind," as he puts it. Mills said from earliest childhood he had heard the old men of his tribe—he is of the Osages—tell of war and he thought soldiering would be a good adventure.

"So it may have been," said he, "when the old men of my tribe were young, but that was before the day of the machine gun and poisoned gas. The slaughter in France was horrible. I did my duty and I will do it again if Uncle Sam needs me, but until he does I am going to sit in the good old United States of America and look after Mrs. Mills, my eight year old son, and my property."

Though he mentions this property interest last, Mills is rated a millionaire. Most of his income is derived from oil bearing lands in Oklahoma, his home.

Mills served as a member of the field artillery.

GERMAN LASSIES CAPTURE HEARTS OF AMERICAN BOYS

By the Associated Press
COBLENZ, Germany, July 3.—The judge advocate's department at army headquarters, here was kept busy today with inquiries from various parts of the occupied area as to whether marriages between American soldiers and German girls would be allowed, now that the peace treaty has been signed. More than 140 inquiries were made today by various individuals, including several officers. These came from the division headquarters of five of the division of the Third army and from various other units, a number of men inquiring personally at headquarters. A ruling on the question will be made in a few days. The order against fraternizing with Germans still is in force nominally at least and will continue probably until Germany ratifies the treaty.

Foreigners Taught Ideals of Democracy in Schools of the Towns and Country

By the Associated Press
MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 3.—More than 200,000 foreigners are given Americanization courses in public school classes annually according to Raymond F. Crist, Director of Citizenship of the Federal Department of Labor, who spoke today before a group meeting at the National Education Association's annual convention. He advocated extension of the federal plan of Americanization through wide use of school houses.

The rank and file of class room teachers were given an inning today when for the first time in the Association's history a kindergarten teacher and a rural teacher appeared on the program.

Alma L. Binzel, Kindergarten teacher of Minneapolis, said that children must learn democracy through practice from the kindergarten to the college. "The kindergarten respects children's rights, gives children a hearing and sets a democratic example for the rest of the school system," she said. "There are no sneak days and no strikes in the kindergarten."

Marie Turner Harvey of the Porter Rural school, Kirksville, Mo., in discussing rural school conditions said that public welfare "demands increased salaries and better training for rural teachers."

"The county school is entitled to as high class teachers as those employed in the cities," she said. "The rural population of the country will not be satisfied until the boys and girls of the rural schools are given every advantage now afforded the children of the most favored cities."

3 NEW BUILDINGS FOR EAST MAIN ST.

Three additional business buildings will be put up on East Main street, just west of the Dodge motor agency. Dirt is being hauled now to fill up and level off the lots.

The lots belong to E. L. Steed and it is he who will put up the buildings. He announces that work will start by August 1st. Work would start sooner but material cannot be secured.

The new buildings will be among the finest in the city. They are to be each 25 feet wide and will run back the whole distance of the lots, 140 feet. They will be one story high, and constructed of brick. The dwelling house now on the lots will be moved off at once.

Nude Corpses Lie Scattered in Wake of the Bolsheviki Army in Parts of Russia

By the Associated Press

BIELEBEL, European Russia.—(By mail.)—The reign of the Bolsheviki passed over the people of Bielebel like a scourge. The Bolsheviki occupied Bielebel for several months.

The correspondent of the Associated Press visited the town within a fortnight after their evacuation. The people were just beginning to readjust their domestic and governmental affairs. Refugees were returning to view the wreck of their homes. They were veritable wrecks for the Bolsheviki had occupied all the vacated houses and had carried away or destroyed most of their contents. An elderly judge of the district court, Professor Paul Blumenthal, long a resident of the United States, who left upon the approach of the Bolsheviki, was so overcome with grief over the fate of his native town that he wept.

Many persons had disappeared and it was well known that many had been murdered. The corpses of victims are being discovered. The correspondent followed a stream of men, women and children which flowed out across the fields toward the edge of a scraggy wood. There under the overhanging bank on the edge of a gravel pit they were lying, a tangled heap of bodies, apparently as they fell or had been thrown, with no attempt at burial.

The bodies were mostly those of young or middle-aged workmen. From each the boots and most of the outer clothing had been removed. Of some the skulls were crushed, of others the faces were disfigured as though by a gunshot at close range.

The crowd on the bank above the gruesome pile appeared fascinated. They silently made way for a group of Americans, including Consul Embury, from Omsk, and two correspondents and watched with interest while they photographed the victims.

A nicely dressed woman and little girl walked into the pit to get a better look at the figure of a blonde young girl which lay partly uncovered close under the bank.

The body was perfectly preserved by the cold and lay with arms bare and crossed as though the girl might have been sleeping. The face, which was not disfigured, was that of an intelligent, pretty girl. Toward dusk the body was removed by relatives who had come from Ufa. She was a high school girl from that town who had been abducted by the Bolsheviki commissars when Ufa was evacuated. Close by was the body of another woman.

When the Bolsheviki entered Bielebel the government of the town was taken over by a "Revolutionary Committee of Communists." There was formed a "Committee of Investigation" under the presidency of Velt, a Lett. One of the first acts of this committee was to shoot the president of the former local county zemstvo as a counter-revolutionary.

The latter was ill at the time and had to be carried out to the time and in a chair. Twenty men were shot and in addition many Mohammedan priests. A member of the investigating committee boasted that he shot one priest because he was too long over his prayers, while the committeemen waited to take him.

High school boys and girls and priests were compelled to clean the streets. Women of the "intelligentsia" were made to clean the floors and walls of barracks occupied by Bolsheviki troops.

Mme. Koshnevikoff, owner of the most imposing residence in town, was arrested. Her daughter, seeking her release, was told that the charge against her was a secret. After a month in jail she was released. It developed that all they had against the woman was that on a previous evacuation of Bielebel she had served such a fine meal to the Bolsheviki that some of them narrowly escaped capture by the "Whites" because of tarrying over their dinner.

More than eighty hostages were taken when the Bolsheviki evacuated.

One day, out of the fog, a yacht is stranded on the hidden shoals of the lonely light, and the owner, a powerful young American, comes to the island for help. The play is one which gives this star every opportunity for her marvelous histrionic powers and she is ably supported by a carefully chosen cast of notable players among whom are Charles Bryant, Henry Harmon, Nancy Koupal, Charles Shilley, Tom Blake, Hugh Jeffrey and Dorothy Smoller.

GERMAN INDUSTRIES ARE BUSY ON FOREIGN ORDERS

By the Associated Press

TREVES.—(By mail.)—American firms appear eager to buy German made goods as quickly as possible, according to letters passing through the United States army censorship. Cameos, agates and amethysts appear to be particularly in demand in America. As an indication of how German industries are being stimulated by orders from foreign countries, a business letter recently said that the crockery factories in Thuringen have enough orders on file to keep them engaged four years.

On the other hand, Germany is buying from outside countries goods of various kinds. Purchases just at this time, however, are confined chiefly to food, cloth and other articles of necessity. Letters to American manufacturing firms continue to pass through the censorship in which German firms or individuals make inquiries regarding agencies in Germany for automobiles, rubber goods and other articles of which the country has been deprived because of the war.

GERMAN LABORERS TO HAVE A PART

EMPLOYEES' COMMITTEES WILL HAVE GREAT POWER IN DIRECTING THE VARIOUS INDUSTRIES.

By the Associated Press

BERLIN, July 3.—A bill creating employees' councils for all industries, businesses and trades in Germany is completed and ready for action by the assembly. The bill provides for councils in all establishments employing fifty or more persons, an industry with fifty workers to have a council of three, 50 to 100 a council of five, 100 to 1,000, one extra for each hundred and over a thousand employees one extra for each five hundred. The councils will be chosen by secret vote of all employees over 20 years from candidates who are over 24 years of age.

The councils' duties will be to protect the interests of employees, to support the employer in furthering his business, to see to the carrying out of loan agreements, to co-operate in wage disputes, regulating vacations, to increase co-operation between employers and employees, aiding in hiring and discharging employees, to support the employer by advice and to obtain the highest possible efficiency.

The employer is obliged to notify the council confidentially on all questions concerning trade secrets, unless that endangers trade secrets, and to submit wage books and information regarding trade prospects. The council can hold up every dismissal and can force a discharge if the committee of adjustment approves.

New Mexico Outrages.

Daily Oklahoman.
The murder of John W. Correll of Ada, Okla., the attempted murder of his son and the maltreatment of his wife by Mexican bandits near Tampico, Mex., are crimes which demand vigorous action by the American government.

However, these latest outrages against American citizens are not unusual happenings in bandit-ridden Mexico. Stretching over a number of years is a long list of attacks for which the Mexican government should be made to atone.

Always hoping that Mexico would be able to establish order without interference, the United States has for some time maintained a policy of watchful waiting. Attacks on Americans and also on other foreigners have been occurring with such frequency, however, that the time is fast arriving when the patience of the American people will be exhausted.

The various Mexican governments have shown themselves incapable to deal with the situation. Even the Carranza government from which much was expected, has proven vacillating and weak-kneed. Instead of properly policing the danger zones of the country and thus staying off the outbreak of fresh revolutions, Carranza has followed the policy of ordering out troops only after the rebels have become thoroughly organized and have done irreparable damage.

Locking the stable door after the horse has left is no better as a policy in the affairs of a nation than it is in the business of running a farm.

The United States government should demand that President Carranza raise a standing army of sufficient strength to give protection against organized outlawry. If Carranza does not then comply with this demand, the United States should do one of two things; either step in and restore order herself or else abolish the Monroe doctrine and let the league of nations send a police force to do the work.

Denounces State Publication of Text Books

By the Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, July 3.—Prof. H. L. Shiner, superintendent of the schools of Topeka, Kansas, told the National Education Association here today that the state publication of text books in Kansas has proved a failure. Prof. Shiner addressed the convention this afternoon on this phase of the education of the child. In part he said:

"State publication of textbooks has been promoted in general without careful investigation as to the needs of the schools and the adaptability of textbooks to the public schools.

"It would be as nearly sane to build an ore mill on the top of a hill and then prospect for ores to feed the mill as it is to carry on state publication as at present.

"State publication was based on saving dollars and cents where there was nothing to save. It has never sensed the real needs of rural schools and can in no way help them. Instead of trying to save dollars at the expense of children, the state should direct its energy toward saving boys for the farms.

"How-to-get-rich-books are usually written by men who were always poor and whose schemes violate the usual rules and ethics of good business. Just this has happened in the promotion of state publication. The promoters have never succeeded in the lines in which they essay to direct all comers. If a man has a good and legitimate business, he is warranted in promoting it. Why publishers should eagerly lend themselves to the promotion of state publication, as against their own particular business, is a hard nut to crack. Maybe the kernel will tell the story when the explosion takes place.

"Politics and school books do not mix well. At least, the solution is not palatable to educators who know.

"State publication was not needed nor demanded in Kansas, and it is now nothing but a political parasite, feeding on the credulity of the people and attaching itself to the educational department in order to appear in respectable company."

NAZIMOVA IN POWERFUL
PLAY "OUT OF THE FOG"

Screen Play Adapted from "Ception Shoals," Shown at the American Theatre.

"Out of the Fog," the screen masterpiece of which the great Nazimova is the star, will be specially shown at the American theatre today. This play is a screen adaptation of the powerful stage drama, "Ception Shoals," written by H. Austin Adams and made famous by Nazimova in a long and successful New York run.

"Out of the Fog" is a story of life—the story of a girl who had to pay the full penalty for her love—a girl whom death deprived of the father of her child before there was time for a marriage ceremony. Playing the role of this unhappy girl in the early part of the picture Nazimova is next seen as Eve, the little daughter grown to beautiful girlhood upon a lonely island in the tropic waters of the Caribbean Sea. Under the stern guardianship of her harsh and narrow uncle, who has never forgiven his sister for her unhappy love, the child is brought up without human companionship other than his own. Dressed in boy's clothes, and roam-

Children Who Had Forgotten How to Smile Get Good Nourishing Food

By the Associated Press

BUCHAREST.—(By mail.)—The children of Rumania are the special care of the American Red Cross nurses who are showing Rumanian mothers how to care properly for them. They are distributing infants' clothing, condensed milk, soap, talcum powder and everything that contributes to a baby's comfort. In this field of relief work the efforts of the Americans already have shown remarkable results. The condition of the children has been wonderfully improved.

The Red Cross workers found the children in all these war-affected towns in a pitiful state of impoverishment. Many of them were slowly dying of starvation. Others had pellagra and malignant skin diseases. These little ones are now being cared for and given nourishing and fattening foods, such as bacon, jam, cod-liver oil, etc. They have shown wonderful improvement since the Americans came.

All these children have been un-red the stress and strain of war for four years and have really never known what childhood is. In common with their parents, they have borne the keenest privations and sufferings. Since Rumania entered the war they have not known what it is to play or to laugh. Hunger has robbed them of that spirit. The war has blighted their lives. No smiles have come to their faces, no happiness into their hearts. They are like flowers which have never seen the sunshine. Their wan, pinched little countenances tell a tragic story. They have had neither proper food, shelter nor clothing. Many of them have lost either one or both parents.

The Red Cross gives them American jam and sweets, and the things that youngsters the world over crave for, and the dark eyes, frank and melancholy, light up with a new radiance. They become children again. The Americans give them clothing, shoes, stockings. They bathe them. The little tots become real human beings.

LIBERTY MARKETS ARE SLAYING MEAT PRICES

The Liberty Markets, Ada's two leading meat shops, are placing prices down where they belong. Ada people are paying too much for meat. Here is what Liberty Nos. 1 and 2 are asking:

Stew, 3 pounds, 25 cents.
Steak, 15 cents; 2 pounds for 25 cents.

Beef Roast, 12 1/2 cents.
Chili Meat and Hamburger, 3 pounds, 25 cents.

Mr. Sneed, the enterprising proprietor of these popular meat shops, says he is determined to see that Ada people get all that is coming to them. Other butchers say he is selling meat cheaper than it can be bought, but he has voluntarily lowered the prices this week. He says he has two immense shipments of the best packing house meats coming this week, and must sell what he has on hand to make room for his stuff and for people to get into his house.

Sneed sells only the best of stuff, selecting the choicest cuts the packers offer, and the volume of business he does combined with his immense purchases permit his making it hot for competition. 7-1-4t.

Death of Former American Beauty Evokes Eulogies

By the Associated Press

LONDON, July 3.—The death of Lady Paget, wife of General Sir Arthur Paget, evoked eulogies of her in many British papers, which keenly regret the passing of the American woman who gladdened so many lives by her philanthropic work.

For nearly forty years Lady Paget was a leader of London society. She made the organizing of entertainments for charitable purposes almost the main business of her life, raising enormous sums. Her activities along that line were continued throughout the war.

Lady Paget was the daughter of Paron Stevens, an American hotel man. She, Lady Randolph Churchill and the Duchess of Manchester, the Manchester Guardian recalls, "were a trio of American beauties who shook the exclusiveness of English society in the early seventies," when they made their aristocratic marriages and established themselves as social leaders and friends of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. Lady Paget was then described as "a dark, brilliant young beauty with remarkable blue-black eyes."

Twenty years ago she was crippled in an elevator, but it made no difference to her social and charitable work. She had four children, a son who died during the war, two who were wounded, and a daughter, Lady Ralph Paget, who made a name for herself in hospital work for the Serbians.

She entered the silent drama, as one of the most charming comedienne of the legitimate stage. Since she entered the film world, her progress she been phenomenally successful and her record is one of unbroken successes.

Miss Clark will be seen in her latest Paramount photoplay, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," at the Liberty theatre Friday, July 4th, and it seems certain that as Lovey Mary in Alice Hegan Rice's remarkable story, she will score another triumph. The character of the girl of Brofield Orphanage who is ever ready to battle for justice and humanity even though she suffer therefor, is one that will be warmly appreciated by her army of admirers.

Miss Clark is finely supported in this admirable picture, her leading man being Gareth Hughes. The part of Mrs. Wiggs is in the capable hands of Mary Carr. Hugh Ford directed the production.

Mapping Way for Aeroplanes to Cross Pacific

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 3.—Dr. Ford A. Carpenter, meteorologist in charge of the United States weather bureau here, is preparing a weather chart of the Pacific ocean to be used by the Pacific Aero Club in mapping a proposed aerial route from Venice, Cal., to Sydney, Australia.

Dr. Thomas undertook the work at the instance of Thomas H. Ince, who has offered $50,000 to the first aviator to fly across the Pacific.

Dr. Carpenter is author of The Aviator and The Weather Bureau, and is said to be the first scientific weather observer to make a systematic study of meteorological conditions in actual flight.

AMERICA AND IRELAND.

Edward De Valera, who bears the somewhat debatable title of president of the Irish Republic, was told on his way to America of the senate resolution asking that the Paris conference give him a hearing. He replied:

"America is the hope of the world. I never for a moment doubted the sincerity of her war aims."

This remark suggests a situation regarding which there ought not to be any misunderstanding. With De Valera now in America, and with a big propaganda in Ireland's behalf under way in this country, with the work of the peace conference not entirely ended, with the League of Nations not yet formally sanctioned and with future British-American relations still to be determined, it is well that the relations existing between Ireland and the United States should be clearly understood.

From De Valera's standpoint, one might gather that the United States went into the war to free Ireland. With all the sympathy and friendship that the American people have always felt for Ireland, it must be said that that was not one of America's "war aims." If there was any thought of Ireland in the public mind when we entered the war, it was a feeling of disappointment that she had not perceived the vital issues at stake as clearly as America had, and had not played so fine a part in the struggle as the Irish traditions and interests seemed to demand.

As matters stood, America did fight for Ireland during the past two years, but did so only in the general sense that America was fighting to keep Germany from enslaving the world. Ireland was a part of that world; German success would have meant German domination of Ireland, and that would probably have been much worse than British domination.

As a result of the war, allied purposes have been expanded to a plan which aims at self-determination for all nations. That includes Ireland, naturally. But that does not mean that the United States is bound to step in and deliver Ireland from England as we delivered Cuba from Spain.

The principle of self-determination can be applied directly, immediately and fully only with regard to the subject nationalities liberated from the tyranny of the Central Empires. The Paris conference is a war conference. It cannot presume to interfere in the internal arrangement of any of the allied powers represented. And the United States, as a participant of that conference, can not more demand that Great Britain free Ireland than Great Britain can demand that the United States free the Philippines or Porto Rico.

Any such formal demand would be improper, and would be bitterly resented. And it is necessary, now and hereafter, for the sake of civilization, that America and Britain get along amicably together.

The settlement of a world-war is one thing. Moral support for a long-oppressed nation striving after freedom is another thing. This the American people can and will give Ireland. Americans will use their best efforts informally, to persuade the British to grant Ireland the largest possible measure of self-government. Ireland should expect no more than this.

The former booze-fighters are revenging themselves on the teetotalers by drinking up all the soft drinks on the market, and sending prices up accordingly.

When Europe plans to start something hereafter it will see America first.

Think of all the Daughters of Revolution Europe is to have.

The State Press

LABOR KNOWS.

Muskogee Times-Democrat: It shocked the boudoir bolsheviks who were calling the spirits of proletarian revolt from the vasty deeps of war-troubled waters to be told by the representatives of 4,000,000 organized workers, "Clear out, we want nothing of you."

A working-class revolt without the workers, a dictatorship of the proletariat without proletarians is truly a hard play to produce.

Union labor knows how gains are made and held. It has made and held very many. It has added now a lot and then a title to the charter of labor's rights. It has fought and won and lost and returned to fight again, with infinite sacrifice and endless pains to achieve the smallest gains. Labor has also tried the sudden leap and spent months and years after nursing its bruises and recovering lost ground.

It knows the great effort of organizing even for an immediate victory. It knows the infinite impossibilities in the way of rallying labor, in a democratic country, for forcible upheaval. It knows the impossibility of reorganizing the crushing chaos that follows such an upheaval. Knowing, labor will have none of these tactics.

These tactics have been tried. They were tried in 1887 and again in 1894. The I. W. W. tries them constantly, and organized labor's heaviest indictment of the I. W. W. is its futility. It cannot point to a single industry and say, "Because of us hours are shorter, wages higher, labor is wielding greater power and is organized and disciplined to hold and utilize its gains."

Sporadic riots, "general strikes," and similar upheavals, do rarely win victories, but never organize and utilize them. These latter require the long training, discipline and self control of democratic organization. Union men and women know this. It is bred into their inner consciousness. With more radicals than ever before among its delegates the convention of the American Federation of Labor gave bolshevism the bounce with slight consideration.

This is discouraging to the revolutionists of pen and platform who have "seen the soviet in action," and are anxious to become Trotskyites and dictate in the name of the proletariat.

Labor knows its disciplined ranks are sweeping steadily on from victory to victory. Knowing this it does not listen to those who preach the possibilities of mobs and ghost dances.

Oklahoma City Times: Trouble between American and French troops at Brest is a regrettable incident. Apparently, a drunken American officer was responsible, and that adds to America's chagrin. Our soldiers have complained before that they have not always been well treated by the French, and there has been some basis for these complaints, usually against the French civil population. But the two nations with similar ideals have fought together in a great cause. The ties of friendship thus cemented should not be imperiled by quarreling over petty differences.

OUR HERO.

Who is the tall, good-lookin' lad,
Keen-eyed, clean cut an' khaki-clad.
That grins so broad an' greets so glad?

Our Hero!

Who walks so bold an' talks so shy,
An' makes the gals look fit to die,
Whenever he goes passin' by?

Our Hero!

Who never sighed nor cried nor stalled,
But stepped right out an' 'loudly bawled:
'I'll go! Take me!' when duty called?

Our Boy!

Who put the kaiser on the skid?
Who helped ol' France of Huns to rid?
An' did he fight? I'll say he did!

Our Boy!

Who led his comrades o'er the top,
Destroyin' Huns at ev'ry hop,
With pep all hell-fire couldn't stop?

Same kid!

Who come back home from Over There,
Just like he'd never known a care,
With wound stripes an' a Croy dee Gair?

SOME Kid!

Who's got a grip like springs o' steel,
That when he mits you makes you feel
Like you've met up with somethin' REAL?

Oh, Boy!

Who blessed the day that give him birth?
Who struts around as if he's worth
Ten million bucks—er owned the earth?

His Dad!

Who watches him with tear-wet eyes,
An' looks that fairly idolize,
An' smiles an' sighs an' laughs an' cries?

His Maw!

Why is the kid thus glorified,
What makes us kicks so full of pride?
Because he's OURN, Gawd bless his hide!

Our Boy!

Community Meeting Success.

The Community Prayer Meeting held last evening at the Tabernacle was most gratifying to the ministers of the city who are so deeply interested in the forthcoming Co-operative Revival. We desire to call upon our respective congregations to enter earnestly into every plan of the meetings and to pray unceasingly for Dr. Ham, Mr. Ramsay, and the co-workers of the party.

WE HAVE GOT TO SWAP IF WE WANT THE TRADE

By the Associated Press

ROME.—(By mail.)—A system of barter akin to that of pioneer frontier days in America, but on a more stupendous scale, presents itself as the modus operandi of the foreign trade of the United States in Europe, according to foreign trade experts of the United States government investigating the trade possibilities in Italy.

"Our ability to establish permanent trade relations with the belligerent European nations which have been drained of their resources by war depends upon our willingness to accept a program of barter in the exchange of commodities," is the opinion given to The Associated Press correspondent by Dr. Alfred P. Dennis, United States commercial attaché here.

"Italy," he added, "needs such of our raw materials as coal, iron ore, lumber and petroleum products to enable her to start up her industrial processes and begin anew her economic convalescence. She cannot go on borrowing the money to pay for our goods. If she is to have them it must be through swapping her commodities for ours."

PROGRAM ON NURSING IS VERY BENEFICIAL

The program given by the class in nursing at the Normal last night was very successful. The audience was all attention although not as large as was hoped for.

The program opened with a song by the young ladies directed by Miss Keller. The title of the song was "Oklahoma." This was followed by a series of questions and answers conducted by Mrs. Coleman, in which the young ladies displayed their knowledge of diseases, how they are received and how to get rid of them. Following this Miss Lula Ingram sang two beautiful solos, "Springtime," and "Dear Old Pal of Mine."

After the song by Miss Ingram

the stage of the auditorium was turned into a regular hospital with beds, bandages, etc., and each young lady of the 93 in the class performed some sort of operation of aid to the injured.

Mrs. Coleman has been very successful with this first class in nursing and the Normal is very proud that they have been able to secure her services.

MANY HORSES DIE FROM HEAT DURING HARVEST

ENID, Okla., July 3.—Farmers estimate that 100 horses in Garfield county have been killed by the heat during the present harvest. The last spring has been so wet that it has been impossible for the farmers to work in their fields with horses, consequently when the harvest began the horses were in no condition to stand the hard work of the fields.

"THE GREAT NAZIMOVA"

WHY IS IT THAT NAZIMOVA HAS ALREADY AS MANY FOLLOWERS AS MARY PICKFORD?

When we stop to think of it, the answer is easy.

—She has the varying moods of Mary Pickford.

—She can "make up" to look like Marguerite Clark.

—She can be a child one moment and an old woman the next.

—She can be as beautiful as Norma Talmadge or as homely as Louise Fazenda.

—She is mistress of all the emotions known to Bernhardt, Farrar, Ferguson or Frederick.

—She can emulate the work of any woman star of the same weight or within four inches of their height.

—And can duplicate their own face as well as their expressions.

—She could double for Theda Bara in Miss Bara's new play, "Why a Woman Sins," and you couldn't tell them apart.

—Or she could "understudy" Lila Lee as the child in "The Secret Garden" with the same degree of perfection.

—While any other woman star you can name is limited in her work.

—Nazimova is limited to nothing.

—She can be as stately as Petrova in "Tempered Steel" or as devilish as Eva Tanguay in "I Don't Care."

—She is young or old; sad or gay; a wicked siren or the soul of innocence.

—Nazimova is anything, everything she wants to be.

—First of all, the greatest artist of her day.

—Second, endowed with beauty, fire, figure and a personality that is divine.

—She registers every emotion known to women and every passion known to men.

—She is a looking glass into which every woman can look and see themselves.

—She is Nazimova.

—All the world sings her praises and no voice sounds a discord.

THE TOWN GOSSIP

By MILTON LESTER

THE PRINTING business.

IS RATHER curious.

IN LOTS of ways.

And THERE are.

A GOOD many things about it.

THAT WOULD seem.

MIGHTY FUNNY.

TO AN outsider.

FOR EXAMPLE:

WE'VE GOT a devil.

AND A hell box.

IN OUR shop.

AND NOT only that.

BUT THE conversation at times.

IS RATHER startling.

AND SOMETIMES.

I'LL GO back.

INTO THE shop.

AND TELL Ed Runion.

TO KILL Bart Smith.

AND Jackson Bros.

AND A few others.

AND PROBABLY.

IN A few minutes.

HE'LL ASK me:

HOW ABOUT Jackson Bros.?"

AND I'LL tell him.

THAT THEY'RE dead.

AND I'VE seen men.

DISTRIBUTE R. W. Simpson.

ALL OVER the place.

AND MAKE up S. M. Shaw.

ON THE back page.

AND THROW Gwin & Mays.

BACK IN the case.

AND FIND a form.

TO PUT M. C. Wilson in.

AND PUT a border.

AROUND Sam Scheinberg.

AND THIS morning.

WE HAD the devil.

WORKING on the forms.

AND HE threw N. B. Stall.

INTO THE hell box.

BEFORE WE knew it.

AND WE had to set him.

ALL OVER again.

AND IT certainly is.

A QUEER business.

IN LOTS of ways.

I THANK you.

Let a Want Ad get it for you.

A. B. Blanks went to Oklahoma City yesterday afternoon to have an operation performed on his ear.

Lieutenant Boone Jones is here from Camp Bowie on a visit to relatives. He is still in the service.

Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp was a visitor in the city yesterday. He was here on business but met many of the local politicians and business men while amongst us.

Mrs. O. C. Felts left yesterday afternoon for Maud to join her husband, who is sick at that place. They will go to Oklahoma City, where Mr. Felts will enter a hospital.

John Blanford, who was recently discharged from the service, has accepted a place as rural mail carrier for the local postoffice and will commence his arduous tasks Monday.

J. H. Norman has started construction of his new residence at the corner of East Ninth and Mississippi. It will be a modern six-room dwelling and being located on a very pretty corner is certain to be one of the prettiest houses in the city.

Workmen are busy making a new front for the building on West Main formerly occupied by the Scott barber shop. The building will be occupied soon by Hassen Brothers from Stratford, who will put in a dry goods and clothing store.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Walters have completed their handsome brick residence in the 100 block on East Thirteenth street. This is one of the finest residence buildings in the city. It contains 12 rooms besides the basement and sleeping porches, is built of brick and cost in the neighborhood of $12,000. They will move into it soon.

Senator Luther Harrison has had another honor thrust upon him, unsolicited. He received a card a few days ago stating that he was made a member in good standing of the Oklahoma City police force. Now wouldn't that tickle the tongue out of your mother-in-law's slipper? The card was signed by Jack Walton, Mayor of Oklahoma City.

Shaw's department store has a unique display in their main window this week. They secured the autographs and photographs of foreign potentates and saffron celebrities which Prof. E. A. McMillan has collected for the East Central State Normal and have placed them in their window. They are a rare collection and of course many people stop to observe them as they pass along.

Let a Want Ad sell it for you.

F. Earle Williams returned yesterday from a visit to Caddo.

Captain C. L. Neel went to Sulphur today to spend the Fourth.

Mrs. John McKinney left today for an extended visit at Stratford.

J. H. Phillips from Atoka, representing the Indian agency is in the city today.

General and Mrs. Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma City will be the guests of Judge and Mrs. C. A. Galbreath while in the city tomorrow.

At a meeting of the directors of the Guaranty State Bank yesterday $2500 was placed in the surplus fund of that popular institution.

Mrs. Clara Smith arrived this morning from Ardmore to spend the Fourth with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nettles and her sister Mrs. N. Lamb.

Honorable Baxter Taylor of the State Industrial Commissioners, Oklahoma City, is in the city today and tomorrow investigating industrial conditions.

Rev. J. F. Alderson and wife of Royce City, Tex., who arrived yesterday are also the guests of their daughter, Mrs. John McKinley as well as their son, Paul Alderson.

Fred W. Bean of Francis, who recently returned from France, has been made vice president of the Bank of Francis. He was cashier of that bank before he went into the service.

Miss B. Alice Francisco left this morning for New York city where she will attend the College for Teachers. She was accompanied by her nephew and niece who will go to Oswego, Kans.

No less than 35 packers of ice cream were sent south on the Katy this morning. Part of it went to Lehigh, part to Coalgate, and 15 packers went to Allen. The packers contained 10 gallons each.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rowland left today on the noon Frisco for Tulsa where they will visit for a few weeks. They will go to Claremore and Sapulpa for short visits before returning home.

W. M. Crutchfield and J. A. Smith went to Madill this afternoon to attend the meeting of the committee to decide on a location for the Methodist presiding elder. They will return tomorrow morning.

Somebody set the Katy station on fire last night. The blaze was discovered and extinguished before much damage was done. The fire was in the baggage room. It looked as if it were set from a cigarette.

Miss Leone Steed left this morning for New York City for special study. She will attend Columbia University and take music from Stohowsky. She will visit in Washington City before returning to Ada. She will be with Miss Helen Turner in New York.

What looked like a thousand people went south on the Frisco this afternoon. Some were pupils going home for the Fourth, some were going to Sulphur, some to Madill and some were even going to Roff. It looked like they were willing to go anywhere to get out of Ada.

The membership of the Methodist church are soon to sit where cooling breezes blow, and that without leaving the building. A contract has been let to fit the church out with the very latest electric l.s.s. There will be four large ceiling fans in the main auditorium, two wall fans under the balcony, two in the Sunday school room and two upstairs in the parlors. With ten fans in operation the Methodist church building will be almost as cool as the ocean.

Rev. S. Crutchfield, 81 years of age, father of Rev. W. M. Crutchfield, quietly stole into the city yesterday afternoon in his jitney-mobility. He left Texarkana Tuesday morning while it was pouring down rain and came to Paris the first day. Yesterday morning he started again in the rain but soon reached dry land and arrived in Ada at 5 p. m. Brother Crutchfield is one of the youngest men in the country for his age and has hundreds of friends in Ada who are always glad to see him.

The stamp business is picking up materially at the local postoffice. It seems that many people have been holding their mail until the first of July to get the saving in stamps which is effected by the new rate. A few people have mailed letters for local people and only placed one cent on them. In such cases the letters have necessarily been returned to senders. One cent is all that is necessary where there is no city delivery but in cities like Ada a two cent stamp is always required.

Dr. W. C. Woodard of Snyder, a member of the legislature of Kiowa county, is in the city today.

R. E. Miller, assistant state secretary of the W. O. W., was in the city today calling on the clerk, C. E. Cunningham.

Hardin-Taylor.

A courtship of many moons' duration was brought to an abrupt close Wednesday afternoon when Miss Sue Taylor and Mr. Bland Hardin completely succumbed to the "marrying germ" which has been so prevalent in our midst for many days past. The "supernumeraries" of this bride and groom of July 2, 3 o'clock prompt, had been more or less alarmed over their condition since they knew the two had been exposed to the said malady above mentioned and we understand that this is one disease that the modern day physician refuses to compete with since there is no cure other than going ahead and hanging themselves, consequently Bland and Sue have fallen victims of Dan Cupid's blows and are today a married couple of some twenty-four hours and are, just about the time you are reading this, somewhere at large after having departed yesterday afternoon on the 4 o'clock Katy for Oklahoma City where they spent the night, leaving there this morning for parts unknown.

The Gordian Knot was very fittingly tied by the Baptist Minister, Rev. C. C. Morris, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. M. Taylor, the ring ceremony being used. The immediate family of both bride and groom was present, they being Mrs. J. M. Taylor, mother of the bride, Mrs. Ruth King and Mr. Hugh Taylor, sister and brother of the bride, Mrs. Hardin, mother of the groom, and Mrs. W. D. Hays, Misses Winnie McLachland and Exar Nolan, all very dear friends of the bride.

The bride wore a navy blue traveling suit with hat and pumps to match and carried a beautiful corsage with the house decorations which was very simply decorated with roses and sweet peas.

Both the bride and groom are well known in this city, having grown to womanhood and manhood in our midst, so it is futile for us to try to enumerate the many good things that might be said of them since they need no recommendation and can surely stand on their own merits.

Bland is a progressive young business man of this city, being in the tailor business on East Main street and even though he is a very promising and popular young man he is a lucky "devil" for having won the hand of his no less popular helpmate and we can only join the throng in wishing for them every ounce of happiness that they deserve.

They will be at home to their many friends in their home on West Fourteenth street after July 8.

Oh! Boy! Tomorrow's the 4th!

Yours truly is not so awfully old, yu' know—but he can remember a good many fine 4ths. But really, now, was there ever such a 4th as this one is going to be? Was there?

The Great War is over, the Peace Treaty is signed and Mr. Wilson, our great President, is on his way home with a signed copy of it in his safety box.

On the first of this month the grand old U. S. A. went dry, which means a lot to everybody and means a better country to live in (if that were possible).

The boys are either home or on their way—most of them, anyway—of course some of them will never come back and this makes us mighty sad when we think of it—cause lots of folks won't have their boys with them on the 4th anymore, but they'll always be proud of their boys who gave their lives that the rest of us might live in peace.

May we all stop from our play tomorrow, long enough to pay silent tribute to that vast throng of gallant, brave and true men who have fought in the different wars of our United States of America, and may we remember with a feeling of wonderful pride that each war was fought with the one great goal in view—the Rights and Liberty of humanity.

Quite naturally, our store will remain closed all day.

P. S.—We almost overlooked stating that the great evangelist, Dr. Ham, with his wonderful singer, Ramsay, will be here July 8th. They can't start a meeting without the cooperation of the people, so get the habit and go to the meetings. Now's the time to do your bit for Christianity as we have been doing it for Humanity.

Interesting Story of Life of Choctaw and Chickasaw Indian Tribes

By E. A. MacMillan

The Choctaw and Chickasaw tribes are able to trace their traditional history back several hundred years—at least three hundred. In the early mazes of their early tribal life, there runs clear their form of government, their social ideals and their worship. In government they were strikingly different from the Cherokees. From the very dawn of Choctaw legend it is found that these simple people were strict adherents of monarchy, which fact leads ethnologists to believe that at a still earlier time they had come into close contact with Europeans. Their king had all the power of his European prototype. His word was law. The blood that coursed through his veins was royal blood, and, biologically, as pure as the king of England. The crown descended to a member of the clan of royal blood and none other. The royal clan was known as Myah-pah-tuk-kalo, the Choctaw phrase for "Twin Lakes." This clan in the early years of 1700 was known as "hattaki-hollafah" or "beloved of the people." The last of the true descendants was Moshilatubby, who was the son of the last king of the tribe and a great uncle of David and Isaac Polson. Many descendants of this family are found in southeastern Oklahoma, and the records of enlistments for the world war shows that many who were proud to claim lineage to the royal house were among the gallant soldiers who went to France and fully upheld the traditions of those ancient warriors and military men of the Choctaw tribe.

When the white man first settled near the Choctaws they found that they had a regular royal government. The reign of the royal clan was at the zenith of its splendor. To the Choctaws the methods of government were entirely satisfactory, as far as the traditions of the tribe chronicled. The French settlers chafed under the autocratic rule of the red kings of the forest and sought, by every means in their power to break down and destroy the influences of the royal clan. That they were successful, is attested by the appointment of kings through French influences, therefore when the English succeeded the French, prior to the Revolutionary war, the reign of kings among the Choctaws was fast waning, and history records the appointment of several kings through English influences.

Chiefs were named over each clan and sub-chiefs had power over restricted territory. In the social status of the Choctaw citizens the following was the order—and woe to him who should attempt to pass the barrier—King, Chief, sub-chiefs, Captains, Warriors and Tillers of the soil. There was originally six clans: Twin Lakes, Long People, Six Town, Chickasaws, Koen-chas, Imok-lu-sha. The six clans were entirely distinct and never married outside their clan. In mental and moral development they exhibited strikingly different characteristics—perhaps more than any other race of men. Those who composed the Six Towns were listless, lazy, and possessed a low degree of intelligence and their lives were spent upon a low plane, repulsive to the other clans. The Twin Lakes clan were educated, impulsive, haughty and easily the leaders in all tribal affairs. It is recorded that in the early part of the nineteenth century—about 1820—the Six Towns clan emigrated in a body to Louisiana, after a portion of the clan had assassinated a white settler, to escape the wrath of their tribal brethren. For over twenty years this clan wandered from place to place in Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico and at last stole a march back into the Choctaw country and settled twelve miles northeast of Atoka, in the beautiful prairie known as Hay-wah-nah prairie. They were not permitted to remain in this section. Whether driven out by their brethren is not known, but they again settled in Texas and descendants of that clan still reside in southeastern Texas.

While the Chickasaws were, in very early time, a clan of the Choctaws, and while they spoke a language very similar, there were many striking differences—differences that archaeologists hold differentiates them. Their government was similar, having a king. They recognized women and held in high reverence their queen. Their history states that when they agreed to dispose of their lands in Mississippi and settle in Oklahoma, they arranged for a yearly stipend of $50 for their queen—Puc-calunla—and $100 per year for Tishomingo their venerable chief, both of whom they were forced to leave behind.

Instead of clans as the Choctaws, the Chickasaws were known by their distinctive house names, their descendants being traceable backwards through the mother's ancestry. Among them there were fifty or more well known house names. The last chief of the Chickasaws was Ish-te-ho-to-pah and today several well known citizens of the state can trace a lineage to this man whom tradition states was one of the greatest strategists among the Chickasaw tribe.

JAPANESE TRYING TO GET MEXICAN IRON DEPOSITS
MEXICO CITY, July 3.—Japanese capitalists are trying to close deals involving the purchase of the principal iron deposits in Mexico, according to El Universal, which paper bases its story on rumors in commercial circles. It is said that the deposits involved are those of Cerro del Mercado, in Durango, the value of which is increased by the proximity of the coal mines of Coahuila. The paper adds that it is proposed to bring to Mexico thousands of Japanese workers.

ANTI-BOLSHEVIKI MEN ADOPT KHAKI UNIFORM

By the Associated Press

ARCHANGEL.—(By mail.)—The khaki uniforms of the British type that have been adopted by the North Russian government for its soldiers have now, with only a very few exceptions, replaced the dozen or more varieties of fancy military dress that were common in the early days of the fighting against the Bolsheviks on this front last September.

This little matter of standardizing the uniform typifies the efforts that have been made to organize a Russian army in the north. Only three units now are out of khaki—the French Foreign Legion, Russians who wear the French light blue and the Polish Legion, also wearing light blue with strange four-cornered peaked caps.

Even the Cossack troops have had to give up their gaudy colors and flaming-striped trousers for khaki.

The Slavo-Britanic legion officers wear the British uniforms, "pips" and all, as grade markings, but the other Russian officers wear the old Russian shoulder stripes on British cut coats with the Sami Browne belt.

A startling contrast to the well-uniformed government troops are the Bolshevik prisoners who are brought in, from time to time, to Archangel. Most of them are without any uniform at all, wearing their peasant clothes, while some have queer mixtures of the dress of half the nations of the world.

Many former Bolshevik prisoners have changed their garb, and also their politics, for the khaki, and now are fighting against the Bolsheviks. One entire battalion of former Bolshevik prisoners, officered by an English colonel, and known as "Dyer's Battalion," has done excellent work.

Hundreds of boys are in khaki in Archangel. Recently Governor General Miller announced that an "educational battalion" of boys from the ages of 12 to 18 years, was to be formed, to include boys, guilty of actions deserving imprisonment, rambles and houseless boys, and boys whose parents would like to have them brought up in an atmosphere of military discipline.

In honor of General Edmund Ironside, the British commander-in-chief, this battalion will be known as "General Ironside's Educational Battalion for Children," and will be dressed and fed at the expense of the British government.

Attend the Memorial Service

Friday afternoon, July 4th, at 2:30 o'clock, a memorial service will be held on the Normal Campus in honor of the more than two dozen Pontotoc county boys who died for their country. Go out and pay your respects. You owe it to the dead.

Let Us Fashion the Sword into a Plowshare

It's here at last—the day we have patiently waited for these long, long years. All honor to our noble boys who conquered—all honor to the American people who so loyally supported them—all honor and love and sweet cherished memory to those brave lads who will never come back.

And now for the blessings of Peace—the abundant prosperity that it is sure to bring. The world needs rehabilitation. We thought during the war only of war munitions. We may now, that peace is signed and certain, turn our eyes toward the factories and fields and produce the needful things for the calmer walks of life. The sword, yesterday indispensable in saving the world from the brutish forces of barbarism, may now be beaten into pruning hooks and plow shares and become the emblem of the civilization which it saved in the red days of recent years.

This bank did its humble part in the fight. It was "in" on every drive. Now it is endeavoring to promote the pursuits of peace. Every farmer, merchant, laborer or professional man who calls here is served as faithfully as the personnel of the bank knows how.

This is the PEOPLE'S BANK. Your interests are ours. If we faithfully look after our customers' interests we know our own profits are secure. We invite you to place your account with a bank where personal interest in you and your affairs is the dominant spirit.

DENOMINATIONAL LINES ARE GONE

SPRIT OF CO-OPERATION MANIFESTED IN READINESS FOR GREAT REVIVAL NEXT WEEK.

That the Ham-Ramsay meeting will be the greatest religious effort ever put forth in this section is the conviction of all of the large number that attended the prayer service at the tabernacle last night. Almost enough to fill the vast choir were present when Rev. E. A. Hardee opened the service and from the first song till the benediction was pronounced the spirit of enthusiasm as to the outcome of the meeting prevailed.

Never before in the history of Ada has the spirit of co-operation been more manifest. Denominational lines have been thrown down and Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist, Nazarene, and Christian have all cast their full strength into the enterprise spiritually and materially. Those who assisted in the building of the tabernacle as well as those who attended the initial meeting last night have been thoroughly impressed with this fact. The speaker called for a showing and strong delegations from all of the co-operating churches reported present. The contributions of money and labor, also, indicate the same spirit.

The topic of the meeting last night was "Prayer." The leader Rev. Hardee, made a most telling application of Christ's instructions for prayer to the effort in hand, laying special emphasis upon the fact that the really greatest world movements have come about as the result of great earnestness in prayer or have been carried on to the constant accompaniment of prayer. He urged that the world recognizes that the greatest benefits that have accrued to the world through its civilization have been the direct result of earnest consecration and prayer and laid it upon the people of Ada to prepare for the impending great effort in this proven manner.

A call for personal expressions of loyalty and support to this effort brought an avalanche of enthusiastic responses. Each speaker, while apparently rendering his or her own pledge, really voiced the pledge of the entire congregation.

The climax of the meeting was reached in the rendition of the beautiful song, "Growing Deeper Each Day," by Mrs. A. T. Beasley. The singer caught the spirit of the meeting in the music of the song and delivered in it a wonderfully appropriate and effective message.

Announcements of preparations for next Sunday evening indicate that the service will be one of the most momentous of the kind ever held here. A number of laymen and clergy from Shawnee will be present to assist in starting the great meeting. This delegation will be headed by Dean F. Erdman Smith of the Baptist University who will be the principal speaker of the evening but at least two other laymen will bring messages of cheer and encouragement from that community, where a Ham-Ramsay revival has recently been held.

It seems to be up to Ada, not only to her church people, but to her entire citizenship, to get ready for this meeting. The reputation of the community for enterprising good and great things is in the balance and being weighed by its own people, by its visitors upon the occasion and, in fact, by all everywhere who are interested in seeing peoples rise to occasions. Church people especially should look to it that nothing interferes with a mammoth attendance upon the services Sunday night. The big tabernacle ought to be filled at this meeting.

The publicity committee has placarded the town and is reaching out to the surrounding towns and communities. They are having prepared large and attractive banners for cars and if you are traveling about much through this and surrounding counties the committee will be glad to furnish you one of these banners. Mr. Penrose at the Edison Shop has charge of the distribution. See him.

Interesting Experiment.

A distinguished scientist has revived an after-image artificially by means of the following experiment: After remaining in darkness for some minutes, he flashed a light onto his hand. He then went to bed in total darkness and slept through the night. Before opening his eyes in the morning he again flashed a light, but this time on his eyes. By this means he revived the after-image of his hand in front of him, although he had not seen it since the previous night.—San Francisco Chronicle.

KILLED IN MACHINERY AT CEMENT PLANT

Jep Whitehead, 26 years of age, was killed at 6:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon while working in the raw Just how the accident happened is not known. Several men were working in the room next to the one in which Mr. Whitehead was employed. They heard an unusual noise and realizing something serious had happened, immediately stopped the machinery. On entering the room they found Mr. Whitehead unconscious on the floor. Evidently he had been caught in a revolving shaft and carried with it several revolutions. A doctor was called but Mr. Whitehead died in about ten minutes without regaining consciousness. His left arm was badly lacerated and broken. His head was crushed and both legs were broken, the left between the ankle and the knee, and the right between the knee and hip.

The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of Shelton & Criswell where it will remain until tomorrow when interment will be held at Rosedale. His mother and other relatives came down from Holdenville this afternoon to attend the funeral. He lived at 21st and Robinson.

Mr. Whitehead had been employed at the cement plant about two years, except the time he served in the army. He was considered a careful workman and his untimely death is regretted by the management of the plant as well as his fellow workers.

DR. ANNA HOWARD SHAW, NOTED SUFFRAGIST, DIES

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 3.—Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, honorary president of the American Women's Suffrage association, died at her home in Moylan, Pa., near here, at 7 o'clock last evening. She was 72 years old.

Dr. Shaw was chairman of the women's committee on the Council of National Defense and recently was awarded the distinguished service medal for her work during the war.

She was taken ill in Springfield, Ill., several weeks ago, while on a lecture tour with former President Taft and President Lowell of Harvard university, in the interest of the league of nations. Pneumonia developed and for two weeks she was confined to her room in a Springfield, Ill., hospital. She returned to her home about the middle of June and apparently had entirely recovered. Last Saturday she drove to Philadelphia in her automobile and upon her return said she was feeling "fine." She was taken suddenly ill again yesterday with a recurrence of the malady and grew rapidly worse until the end.

Her secretary, Miss Lucy E. Anthony, a niece of Susan B. Anthony, who has been with Dr. Shaw for thirty years, and two nieces, the Misses Lulu and Grace, were at her bedside when she died.

No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made. They probably will be announced tomorrow.

Building Notes

Wick Adair and Jack Maxey are each having a bungalow erected on East Twelfth.

J. C. Sparks will soon begin the erection of a seven-room bungalow on East Twelfth.

E. C. Wilson has just let a contract for the erection of a beautiful five thousand dollar residence in the Normal Addition.

W. W. Sledge is erecting a warehouse just across the street from the Sledge Lumber company, which will be used for storage purposes by J. M. Stanfield.

Building operations are extensive but are not equal to the demand for homes. Many individuals and contractors who would build now if they felt certain concerning prices of materials, are holding back.

Realtors are confident of a steadily rising market and believe that a period of great activity is just beginning. Many sales of homes and home sites continue to be made to people from other states as well as to home people. There is every reason to expect this movement to increase.

L. A. Maxey and wife, who have been living in Oklahoma City for several months past, have returned to Ada to make this their permanent home. They will begin the erection of a five-room bungalow on Francis avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth, some time in the very near future, contract for same having already been let.

The stability of Ada real estate is being assured daily. Contracts for eleven new brick buildings on West Main were let some time ago and the tearing away of old buildings and erection of new ones will be started next week, and the work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Contractors say they have more work than they can possibly do, and many contracts have been refused the past few weeks on account of so many orders ahead. One of the leading contractors of this city stated this morning that he had contracts for sixty thousand dollars worth of work ahead of him, and stated furthermore that in one week's time he could easily secure contracts for two years' work. This is evidence enough that Ada is surely and steadily growing.

RECRUITING STATION LOCATED ON MAIN

The United States recruiting station spoken of in yesterday's paper, has been placed on East Main street, near the Katy depot. The regular army tent is used for the station and several men are on the job.

It is pointed out in the literature appealing for soldiers, that by joining the army the men get the benefit not only of traveling but an education in books and trades besides. They ask for men to go to France, China, Panama Canal, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands & Siberia. The government is anxious to get the men needed to relieve the soldiers at present overseas and those who join get the benefit of immediate transportation.

The station in Ada has the following men connected with it: Second Lieutenant Frederick B. Rosenboul, Sgt. Harry C. Boyd, Sgt. Charles Rudloe, Corp. Harry F. Jones. They are all from Fort Sill. They will gladly explain any branch of the service to those who may be interested.

At the Ada Play Houses

At the American.

Do you know why the awfully hot weather is having no effect on the crowds attending the American theater each night? It's because the management has made it the coolest place in town and listed such interesting numbers for each program you do not notice the heat.

The program for tonight is unusually good, and coming tomorrow night is the great Nazimova in "Out of the Fog."

At the Liberty.

Dorothy Gish is the attraction at the Liberty tonight in the popular comic "Boots." Mr. McSwain, in an especial effort to please the women and children, has secured for Friday and Friday night the Fourth, the always popular "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Whether stage or screen this is always a drawing number and with pretty Marguerite Clark starring as Lovey Mary we predict an overflowing house at both matinee and evening programs.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT NORMAL TONIGHT

The public is cordially invited to attend the picture show at the Normal tonight. The program will consist of a five reel production called "The Spirit of 1917," a Mutt and Jeff comedy. The show will start at 8:30 and no admission will be charged.

Mr. Molloy of the entertainment committee of the Normal states that they want it distinctly understood that they are not running in opposition to the picture shows of Ada, but that they have educational pictures they want to show, and they are pictures interesting to the public generally therefore the public is invited. If anything the picture show at the Normal aids the picture shows that it convinces many people that the moving picture is an institution for good.

Daily Thought.
Calumny is only the noise of mad men.—Diogenes.

Independence Day in 1919

YOU may feel, as so many others do, that the Fourth of July in 1919 has, and should have, a new significance. The Fathers of this nation fought a strong enemy that they might gain political freedom for themselves and their children's children.

The Sons of the nation have just been fighting that they might give political freedom to others.

The one thing we ought to be proudest of, and celebrate most enthusiastically, is not so much the freedom they have won for us and others, as the fact that they were willing to fight for it.

And we ought to pause long enough from noise, and games and gaiety, to resolve with some solemnity, that nothing we can do shall be left undone, to keep and perpetuate what has been gained.

That's one of the uses of such a holiday; we're all going to quit business and make it a day
